Mr. Bayly reported back the bill (from the committee on claims) for the relief of Charles Edmonston; which was passed. Mr. Pepper, from the committee on improvements, reported back the bill to grade and gravel Vermont avenue, between M and N street north; passed. Mr. Johnson introduced a bill for laying a flag footway at the intersection of Maryland avenue and 13 street, across Maryland avenue;

Mr. Pepper reported back from the committee on improvements a Council bill for the improvement of A street north, commencing at First street east, without amendment; passed.

The special order—the bill to regulate the business of Huckstering-was then taken up, and the amendments reported by Mr. Fitzpatrick, from the committee on police, were explained by that gentleman, who remarked that the committee had struck out the clause making it obligatory on Hucksters to place the word "Huckster" on their stalls after their name. The bill had been amended also by striking out the prohibition of tradesmen from having stalls in the market. Also, that, as changed, the bill provided that the country people could have accommodations for selling near the wagons. And, further, so as to prevent Hucksters from buying from the country people before market hours. As amended Mr. F. earnestly advocated the passage of the bill, as being greatly required to check the fore-stalling practices of some of the Hucksters. He also explained the justice of the amendment allowing a Huckster to have two stalls in the market. He preferred $15 for the price of license to the original $25, proposed in the bill, but was willing to compromise on $20, as the bill then provided.

Mr. Evans opposed any effort to regulate the business of Huckstering, as likely to create confusion, without doing the least good. Mr. Houston was for perfecting this bill, seeing its final passage certain. Thus he was for a daily market at the proper season of the year. He was also for selling potatoes, onions, &c., Mr. Bayly proposed to make the huckster's license $15, as at present. He had no idea of increasing their license payment before the ket be remedied. Mr. Pepper explained that the Councils had for years very improperly refused to spend money for the improvement of the Centre Mar-Washington community were most anxious for this improvement, and also for the passage of some proper regulations for the business of Anacostia Fire Company; laid over. huckstering here.

Mr. Dove conceived the original bill to have been too stringent, and explained the reasons which had governed the committee in their various recommendations for its amendevery feature of the lower Board's bill to which the hucksters could reasonably object.

Mr. Magruder was opposed to the bill in any shape. He did not believe the hucksters to be the nuisances they are represented to be, and thought that they had already so overlegislated on the subject, as to make the Corporation's huckster code a jumble, understood by no one. Some of the hucksters were very large dealers, and brought their supplies in good part from a very long distance. Without their aid in the past dry season the city would well nigh have famished. They deserved great credit for their enterprise. The hue and cry against the hucksters he held to be all wrong; and that legislation to decrease the number of hucksters here will be legislation to render forestalling the market more easy. tried and found inefficient, he should oppose further legislation on the subject. Having failed to prevent tippling, to keep the negroes in after 10 p. m., &c., by legislation, he was against legislation in this way on this subject. They were merely multiplying words on the statute books, to be practically disregarded. Mr. Fitzpatrick replied at some length to the last speaker, contending that the friends of the bill had not characterised the hucksters as nuisances. They only insisted on the propriety of regulating them as all other business is regulated by law Their alm was but to prevent the hucksters from buying from the country people on the night before market. The committee had nothing personal in urging | endar. this law. They were but seeking the interest of the commuity at large, as he explained. Mr. Pepper urged the enactment of the bill.

He was for taxing resident hucksters less than foreign hucksters. The Chairman remarked that the courts had decided that the Corporation has no right to make any such discrimination. Mr. P. thought this unfortunate. Mr. Clark expressed himself in favor of the

Mr. Houston replied to the remarks of Mr. Pepper in favor of the prompt construction of a new Centre Market house, to the construction of which he was opposed, as well as to current funds, but subsequently again paid the bill before them; which, if enacted, would out, as on yesterday, Trans-Alleghany (Va.) operate to make all the producers around notes, in exchange for those of their own Ex-Washington, hucksters—why, and how, he ex. change Bank. They are themselves the replained.

Mr. Pepper protested that there was no attack on the hucksters in the bill. The question on the indefinite postponement of the bill, moved by Mr. Evans, was then put; and it was not agreed to by the following vote-tion on its third reading, by a similar voteyeas, 6; nays, 6; as above. Mr. Fitzpatrick presented a petition from Brereton & Brother, and other grocers, for the repeal of the liquor law; referred. Mr. Clark introduced a bill for the erection of lamp posts, &c., in the Sixth Ward; passed. Also, a bill to authorize the publication of the laws, &c., of the Corporation in the "Daily American Organ."

Mr. Bayly opposed it, as involving unnethe News on account of the expense; and he, too, had become economical in this matter. Mr. Clark thought the Organ was about to of the laws of the Corporation.

Mr. Bayly trusted that if there were stock holders of the Organ in the Board, they should not vote on this resolution in their own favor. The fall in the value of these stocks was probably the remote cause of the run on the bank here, the house of Selden, Withers & Co., being the agent for the State in disposing of them. Though they continue paying their notes as we explain above as we go to press, two or three drafts upon them have been protested within the last twenty four hours. HERRINGTON VS. MINOR .- This case, which ttracted the attention of the constables of this county, was tried on the 8th inst., before Justice Clark. Mr. Miner, who is a county constable, was arrested under a warrant issued by Justice Clark, in which he is charged with forcibly entering the premises of Mr. A. T Herrington, and committing an assault and battery on Mrs. Herrington. From the evidence it appeared that Mr. Miner went to the residence of Mr. Herrington, with a writ to levy on his goods. Finding the door locked, he resorted to a stratagem to obtain entrance. He sent a boy to the door with a box and a letter, and when Mrs. H. opened the door to see what the boy had brought, Miner sprung to the door and was resisted by the lady, but at length succeeded in entering. Justice Clark decided that he could not hold a constable to bail for doing his duty legally. That there was no proof of a forcible entry, as the door was open. That the officer had committed no assault, for when opposed in the execution of his duty, the constable had a right to repel force by force. The case was dismissed. We have since learned that Mr. Herrington intends taking the case before the grand jury. A MEETING of the officers and employees of lication of the laws of the Corporation in the the House of Representatives, called in consequence of the death of Charles W. from Bremen, with 360 passengers went ashore la t night during the prevalence of a thick fog, off Deal, on the New Jersey coast, a point about 16 miles south of Sandy Hook. The vessel lies broadside to the sea three hundred yards from the shore. In the effort to make a connection with the ship all the balls at the beach were shot without success and no line could be thrown to the wreck. Those on shore sent to the other stations for more balls, but without success. Only twenty passengers succeeded in getting ashore in the ship's boats. The life boat succeeded in reaching the ship but once, when ten passengers attempted to come ashore in her. She turned over twice and at last righted, but only five of the ten passengers were saved. It is thought that seventy persons were washed overboard. The sea was breaking over the ship, and it was likely that many more would be washed over before morning. Captain Henry was
